

ABSTRACT

MASTER’S THESIS

EXECUTIVE DECISION TIME

İbrahim DURMUŞ

2013, XIV+179 page

The heart of government decision-making, is the essence of management effectiveness. Forms the center of government decision-making process in this respect. This process is used to determine the time of the decision taken. The most important task is to decide on the position of the manager’s decision-making in organizations. Therefore, the administrator take the right decision at the right time is very important. Because competition and survival time element in the process of attaining this decision the most important element.

Examination of the exact time of receipt of a decision is quite difficult. With this in mind work, Gumushane and Bayburt provinces and private sector enterprises, public institutions operating in the evaluated data from 401 managers. Managers within the organization, when they tried to investigate decisions. Research in general were examined in 4 sizes. This created a new model of the fourth dimension.

Key Words: Executive decision-making process, time to notice the problem of executive, defining the problem of executive time, executive time problem solving, executive decision time in different situations